Senate Okays Civil Rights Bill

Measure Back To House For Amendments Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a civil rights bill Friday night after eight weeks of battling.

The roll call vote was 71-18. The 18 were the Southern senators who fought the bill every step of the way.

Forty-two Democrats and 29 Republicans supported the bill on final passage, with 18 Southern Democrats opposed.

All of the 11 senators missing on the vote, 5 Democrats and 6 Republicans, were announced in favor of passage.

Public galleries were only about half filled as the roll was called shortly before 8 p. m. There was no applause or other demonstration when the result was announced.

Many of the senators appeared to be in a hurry to get away and left the chamber immediately after the vote.

The measure, aimed primarily at enforcing Negro voting rights, goes back to the House for action on Senate amendments.

Congressional leaders were hopeful the House, which passed substantially the same bill by a 311-109 vote on March 24, would accept the Senate changes.

This would make it unnecessary to set up a Senate-House conference to compromise the differences, most of which are relatively minor.

Senate passage of the bill came over bitter opposition of Southern members, who lost 70-13 a last-ditch effort to send it back to the Judiciary Committee for more hearings. The final vote capped a struggle that began Feb. 15 and was featured by more than a week of record-smashing around-the-clock sessions.

DeGaulle Comes Home To Trouble

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle came home Friday from three triumphant days in London, and found a pack of trouble awaiting him. French farmers, still angry at his refusal to call Parliament to discuss their woes, were far from appeased by his latest offer of long-range aid.

Agriculture Minister Henry Rochereau sent Parliament the text of four bills which put the government's farming policy in concrete form for the coming years. They provided modernization subsidies, increased training programs, and sick benefit insurance for all who work the land.

The plan calls for parliamentary committees to start discussing them now, so they can be debated when the National Assembly resumes its session April 26.

Discusses Problem

Within hours of his arrival from London, De Gaulle was closeted with Premier Michel Debre to discuss the problem.

The main objection of farmers is that the government's proposals will have no immediate effect on their tight budgets. They want the prices of farm products again tied to those of industrial products to give their incomes a rapid boost.

Demonstrations Thursday all over France showed the farmers mean business. Farm union leaders estimated the turnout at 400,000. Government officials set it at 200,000—a figure most independent sources judged far too low.

Although there was rioting, at only two points—Sens, southeast of Paris, and Quimper in Brittany—the slogans on the farmers' banners were menacing.

"The peasants are well worth a bomb," read one, referring to the large sums France is spending on nuclear development.

Another, addressing the chief of state familiarly in the second person singular, warned bluntly: "De Gaulle, behave yourself!" Some demonstrators waved black stockings — a traditional hiding place for peasants' savings — and shouted "They're empty!"

MENDHAM, N.J. (AP) — A 21-year-old college senior is the principal beneficiary of a one-to-four million-dollar estate left by a childless widow who brought her here from war-torn London.

Joannah Felicity Touchet Clapton, a student at Sarah Lawrence College, is now mistress of Peasant Valley Mills, a colonial mansion on a 115-acre estate in the Somerset Hills of northern New Jersey.

She also was left a trust fund by her benefactor, Mrs. Arthur Whitney, who died Feb. 8 at the age of 82. Her will was probated Thursday. Mrs. Whitney raised Miss Clapton, although the girl was not related or adopted.

40 Flu Victims

TOKYO (AP) — Forty persons in two homes for the aged have died from flu in the last two weeks, the Welfare Ministry said Friday.

Martin Seeks Hike In Road Budget Funds

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Highways Secretary Park H. Martin said Friday his department's annual budget of 450 million dollars will have to be increased by 60 million a year if Pennsylvania is to meet the demand for highway work.

"We are constantly falling behind in providing the kind of funds needed to modernize our system," he told a meeting of the Council of Chambers of Commerce of Western Pennsylvania.

Martin said the state should be spending about 250 million dollars a year for new highways. From 1954 through 1958, he said, the average spent was 148 million a year.

Dollars On Line
"Somebody is going to have to put some dollars on the line," he said.

He predicted that proposals to increase gasoline taxes and increase auto registration fees will again be introduced in the State Legislature next year. These same proposals were rejected by the last legislature.

Martin said the department now estimates it will cost about 270 million dollars to build the proposed 200-mile Pittsburgh - Erie West Virginia expressway.

He said the expressway "will be built just as fast as design plans are finished and location problems are settled."

Eisenhower Inks Night Club Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday signed a bill reducing night club and cabaret taxes from 20 to 10 per cent, effective May 1.

The Senate had completed congressional action on the bill March 29. Musicians and entertainers have complained the high tax had been working a hardship on them by reducing employment.

Soviets Seek Long Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter reported Friday the Soviets have asked for a long recess in the Geneva disarmament talks until mid-June.

Denounce Bill

Southern senators denounced the bill to the end as an unconstitutional invasion of states' rights. Some of their Northern Democratic colleagues called it a weak, watered down bill — a sham.

But Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who worked in tandem to steer the bill through the Senate, said it marked a forward step.

Dirksen said last Tuesday that President Eisenhower was "quite happy" with it, even though the bill does not carry out some of the administration's major civil rights proposals.

The heart of the measure is designed to assure Negroes and other minority groups the right to register and vote without discrimination because of race or color.

Judge Could Register

In any area where a Federal District Court found a pattern or practice of racial discrimination, the judge, or referees appointed by him, could register qualified Negroes. Their right to vote would then be enforced through the court's contempt powers.

The court action would be initiated by the attorney general, who was empowered by the 1957 Civil Rights Act to seek injunctions against discriminatory practices by election officials.

The bill passed Friday night also would require records of all elections for federal officials to be preserved for 22 months and made available to the attorney general for inspection upon demand.

Two other sections are in the nature of general criminal statutes. One provides penalties for obstructing federal court orders by force or threats and the other prescribes punishment for fleeing across state lines to avoid prosecution for bombing schools, churches or any other buildings.

The bill also would permit the federal government to provide schooling for children of members of the armed forces in areas where the public schools are closed by disputes over racial integration.

Proposals Out

Two major Eisenhower proposals failed to win approval of either the Senate or House.

One would have authorized federal financial and technical aid to local school districts that voluntarily undertook to comply with the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

The other would have created a permanent commission to seek the elimination of racial discrimination in the hiring of workers by federal contractors and employers generally.

The signal for final passage of the civil rights bill came with defeat of a move by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) to send the measure back to the Senate Judiciary Committee for further consideration. Eastland's move was killed on a tabling motion by Dirksen.

Lawrence On Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania was named Friday to a panel of Democratic leaders to conduct the first session in a series of nationwide Democratic platform hearings.

Disarm Meet Turns To Unreality Stage

South Africa Mopping Up Foes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's government, methodically mopping up foes of its white supremacy policies, banned two big Negro political organizations today. Definitely, the imprisoned leader of one declared "We are going underground."

Afield, fresh reserve soldiers were mobilized for the battle the government appeared to have all but won. Predawn police raids in five cities netted more than 100 persons, including some white men and Indians suspected of backing the Negro fight against segregation.

Outlawed for a year under the national emergency law were the militant Pan-Africanist Congress, which claims 31,000 members, and the larger and more moderate African National Congress.

Ike Accuses Castro Of Betrayal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower accused the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday of betrayal of the ideals of freedom and equal rights under law.

"Unfortunately, recent incidents in Cuba make it quite clear that it is dangerous for anyone there to voice opinions which do not conform with government policy," he said.

Eisenhower expressed his view in a lengthy letter to Chilean students who criticized U. S. policies during his visit to Santiago March 1.

Eisenhower's letter will be conveyed by Ambassador Walter Howe to the president of the Federation of Chilean Students.

The 14-page document was made public at the State Department which said Eisenhower personally worked on drafting it.

Reaffirms Stand

The President reaffirmed the standing policy of not interfering in Cuban internal affairs, and he said no official in his administration has ever made public aid no statement or committed acts unfriendly toward Cuba or its people.

"It is regretted that the same cannot be said for the leaders of the Cuban government who seem to have intentionally made derogatory and most hostile statements regarding the United States government and people, designed to disrupt our traditionally amicable relations," he added.

New Prince Baptized

LONDON (AP) — Andrew Albert Christian Edward was baptized Friday and gave two lusty yells.

The infant prince, son of Queen Elizabeth II, was christened by the Archbishop of Canterbury at Buckingham Palace. The congregation was limited to the royal family and about 60 of their closest friends.

In more formal times, the christening date might have run into criticism from the Church. For one thing, the Anglican prayer book provides that children should be baptized only on Sundays except in cases of necessity. More important, Anglican curates are required to "often admonish people that they defer not the baptism longer than the first or second Sunday after their birth unless upon great and reasonable cause."

Andrew Albert Christian Edward is already 7 weeks old.

He was brought into the palace music room by his nurse, Miss Mabel Anderson, and as the actual baptism approached was handed to the Queen's cousin, Princess Alexandra.

This transposition brought forth the first yell.

No Agreement Seen Before Summit Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The 10-nation disarmament conference Friday abandoned all serious hope of coming up with any meaningful agreement before next month's summit meeting in Paris.

The negotiations entered a stage of unreality which drew flippant comment from both sides and showed that all expectation of quick progress toward a world treaty for ending the arms race has been put aside for the time being.

The two sides apparently were seeking only a dignified formula for turning the whole problem over to the Big Four heads of government without having agreed even on how to begin discussing it.

Western officials said they are convinced Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin came to the conference with instructions to keep the negotiations locked in a stalemate until the summit.

This would give Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hope of reaping a double harvest: In return for possible Western concessions in other fields, and in a guise of Soviet sacrifices for the sake of world peace, the Soviet Premier might instruct Zorin to take a more flexible line when the conference resumes after the summit.

There is no doubt in anyone's mind that the conference will resume. The question is how long it will take now to agree on a face-saving formula for adjournment.

After the disappointment of the past four weeks, the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada were in no mood to follow Zorin in further argument on the Khrushchev plan for total world disarmament within four years.

Brief Hope

There was a brief moment of hope Thursday, when Zorin presented what seemed to be a compromise proposal: We cannot agree on either the Soviet or the Western disarmament plan, as both are mutually unacceptable, generalities.

Then Zorin explained what he meant by general principles—total abandonment within four years of all military establishments and weapons without any clear provisions for verification. The general principles were, in fact, indistinguishable from the Khrushchev plan.

"The same old salad with more Russian dressing," quipped French delegate Jules Moch.

Round Up 50-Plus

The police raiders rounded up more than 50 persons in Johannesburg. Other arrests were made in Cape Town, Durban, Port Elizabeth and Pretoria. The raiders struck under emergency regulations rushed through Parliament after widespread Negro reaction to the killing of 72 African demonstrators by police gunfire March 21.

The situation throughout the nation was more nearly normal than at any time since the outbreak of the campaign.

The back-to-work movement swelled among the 10 million Africans who do most of the labor in this nation of three million whites.

Out To Stop AF Base Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) and a group of Pennsylvania congressmen agreed Friday to ask the Air Force to reconsider a cutback in civilian personnel at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa.

A delegation of union officials asked that the Air Force be requested to abandon the layoffs and instead, reduce the work force if necessary through attrition and the natural turnover of jobs. They said 240 employees are to be laid off after June 30.

Agreeing to join with Scott in the appeal were Bernard Norwitch, representing Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), Reps. Walter M. Mumma (R-Pa.) and George M. Rhodes (D-Pa.); Mrs. Aleda Evans representing Rep. James M. Quigley (D-Pa.), and Eugene Hegart, representing Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.).

Adenauer's Christian Democrats refused to confirm or deny the report. The government said only that Oberlaender will take his annual vacation within the next few days.

Controversial Figure

Oberlaender has been the focus for charges that former Nazis held high posts in Adenauer's government. The attacks grew stronger after this winter's outbreak of Swastika-smearing in West Germany. There were demands that all the ex-Nazis be weeded out.

Oberlaender has been a controversial figure since he was appointed refugee minister in 1953. The appointment was a shrewd political move by Adenauer, for it divided the then powerful Refugee party, packed with former Nazis clamoring for the recapture of Germany's territories lost to the Communists. The party went into eclipse. Oberlaender, once its national chairman, joined the Christian Democrats.

He has never denied his Nazi ties. He joined Hitler's party in 1933.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's government, methodically mopping up foes of its white supremacy policies, banned two big Negro political organizations today. Definitely, the imprisoned leader of one declared "We are going underground."

Outlawed for a year under the national emergency law were the militant Pan-Africanist Congress, which claims 31,000 members, and the larger and more moderate African National Congress.

Under Arrest
Their chiefs are under arrest for promotion of demonstrations and riots initially aimed against the South African law that requires nonwhites to carry identity papers at all times.

The vow to carry on in secret was voiced by PAC President Mangaliso Sobukwe, a former university instructor in languages, in a Johannesburg courtroom where he is on trial with 22 associates for incitement of Negroes in the anti-pass campaign.

"Are you now going underground?" Sobukwe was asked by a reporter for The Associated Press.

"Yes, we are going underground," he replied.

Soldiers called up Friday were a battalion or so of the South African Irish Regiment, a Johannesburg unit. They were ordered to duty at Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, 270 miles south of Johannesburg.

The Transvaal Scottish Regiment is already mobilized at a training ground near the heart of Johannesburg. The Witwatersrand Rifles are standing by at an airport east of the city.

Survey Planned On Needs Of Monroe Senior Citizens

THE groundwork for a comprehensive survey to determine the needs of the senior citizens in Monroe County, and to find out what services and programs already exist, was laid yesterday at a luncheon meeting in Wyckoff's Tearoom.

The Monroe County Chapter, Governor's White House Conference on Aging, will conduct the study with the aid of a questionnaire to be placed in The Daily Record.

All senior citizens will be invited to answer the questions. The conference group will set a deadline for the return of the questionnaires, after which it will meet to tabulate the findings and relay them to the state committee in Harrisburg along with the returns and recommendations from the 66 other counties.

Filing Deadline
June 1 is the deadline for filing the county reports with the governor's committee, which in turn will conduct its own review of the findings and compile a list of recommendations to the 1961 White House Conference on Aging.

Executive board members and committee chairmen attending yesterday's meeting of the Monroe County group voted to hold a project conference of the entire committee on Monday, May 16 in the assembly room of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. The purpose will be to coordinate the findings established by the questionnaire and further studies conducted by the various committees.

Ernest H. Wyckoff, county chairman, presided at the session and invited each of the committee heads to report on progress to date.

John Dougherty reported Ashton Burrows will head the income maintenance committee. Roy Myers, of the Social Security Administration, will assist in an advisory capacity.

John R. Wilson, reporting for the health services needs group, said Dr. M. H. Spinner will serve as committee chairman.

The study of housing for middle-aged and older people will be in charge of Rev. Roger Stimson, according to Mrs. Bernice All.

Dr. Frank Sills said Mrs. Barbara Gilpin will head the committee on free-time activities, while Capt. Charles Drummond said Mrs. Nelson Beers will be in charge of religion and related serves. Assisting will be Rev. Robert Zuch, Protestant; Rev. John Esseff, Catholic, and Rabbi Joshua Soden, Jewish.

Talks At Session
Robert P. Loneragan, community welfare planning consultant in the Office for the Aging, State Department of Public Welfare, spoke to the group on the duties of the committee and the sub-chairmen.

He said leaders in all parts of the county should be made aware of the purposes of the White House Conference on Aging and invited to help carry out the program.

Each sub-chairman was asked to propose questions to be included in the questionnaire and to submit them to Dr. Sills by April 15. Assisting in the study will be the MORA Club, Leisure Hour Club, Senior Citizens Club, Department of Public Welfare and Social Security Board.

The next meeting of the executive board and chairmen will be held April 20 at noon at Wyckoff's Tearoom.

'Ole Miss Up But Not In Flood Zone

THE Mississippi River rose in the St. Louis area Friday but dropped in the flood zone upstream.

The crest passed Hannibal, Mo. without causing further trouble along the Missouri or Illinois shores.

The Mississippi passed the 33-foot mark in St. Louis. It was expected to reach its high point of 34½ feet there Monday. That would be 3½ feet below the level where serious damage would occur.

While flood fears dwinged upstream, there still was a possibility that the long spell of high water might weaken levees to the breaking point.

The crest on the Missouri River approached St. Charles, Mo., close to its junction with the Mississippi. The Public Health Department in Clark County, Mo., adjacent to the Iowa border, warned residents to be on guard against contaminated drinking water. Clinics for anti-poison shots were set up in Gregory Landing, Alexandria, and Wayland, Mo.

Two homicide squad detective sergeants, Charles Burns and John Daly, said the case had homosexual overtones.

The two officers gave this account of the man in custody called police Friday afternoon to report that he knew who had slain the man in the Alton Hotel.

Daley met the informant, whom they did not name, told them the suspect met Owen in another restaurant on Thursday afternoon, keeping an appointment made the day before. The suspect confided that he planned to rob Owen.

Good Morning!

Then there was the man with so much will power he could eat just one salted peanut.

Screen Actors' Strike Ends

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actors' strike, first in movie history, ended Friday, assuring immediate return to work for such glamorous union members as Elizabeth Taylor and Marilyn Monroe.

The strike, unique in labor history because millionaires were as thick on labor's side as they were on management's, lasted just a month and a day.

The settlement means actors working on pictures interrupted by the walkout will be able to go back to work immediately. But no new pictures will be started until the agreement is ratified. This is expected at an April 18 meeting.

Representing labor around the conference table as the strike ended were Ronald Reagan, president of the Screen Actors Guild; Charlton Heston, fresh from his Oscar triumph and James (Maverick) Garner.

Major Concessions
Both sides made major concessions to effect the settlement. All said they were happy with it.

Major provisions of the agreement follow this formula:

1-A pension plan for actors with producers paying, as past service credits, a total of 24 million dollars in 10 equal installments over the next 10 years. This is the first industrywide pension plan. The payments are in lieu of actors' demands for a share of proceeds from the sale of 1948-1960 pictures to television. This was the key issue.

2-A health and welfare fund for actors, with the producers making an initial payment of $375,000 to establish the fund.

3-To maintain the pension, health and welfare funds, the producers will pay on all post-1960 pictures, an amount equal to five per cent of each actor's salary, up to a maximum of $100,000 per actor per picture.

4-The producers will pay six per cent of their net profits on sale of any post-1960 films to television.

5-The contract covers the production of theatrical motion pictures, including pay TV. In the event that pay TV becomes a reality, provision is made for reopening the contract to handle payments for that situation.

Minimums Upped
6. Salary minimums boosted by the new three-year contract include: day players, up from $90 a day to $100; weekly free-lance players, up from $300 to

Sunday School Lesson

Humility Theme Of Lesson

By Newman Campbell
TO BEGIN this lesson it might be interesting to ask the pupils their definition of "humility." To some it may mean an insincere effort to cover up pride of one's character or accomplishments.

But in others it is a sincere feeling of inferiority to the accomplishments of others whom they deem more talented or accomplished than they.

Christ Jesus said, in His Sermon on the Mount: "Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the earth."—Matthew 5:5.

Rev. Wilbur M. Smith writes "The word translated 'meek' here is one meaning 'gentleness of disposition, peaceableness of temper in the face of provocation and wrong.' It is the spirit of one who is not easily provoked, but keeps under control the natural instinct to assert oneself and to retaliate. It is the opposite of irascibility and the spirit of revenge."

"But in reality meekness has a deeper and wider significance. It is, to begin with, a disposition towards God, the humble submission to the Divine will, the quiet acceptance of the discipline of life as coming from One who, in infinite wisdom and love, directs the destinies of men."

The 11th chapter of St. Luke begins with Jesus healing a man suffering from dropsy at the home of a chief Pharisee where he had been invited to "eat bread" on the sabbath day. He had asked those present if it was lawful to heal on the Sabbath, but no one answered Him.

—Luke 13:1-4.

"And He put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when He marked how they chose out the chief rooms, saying unto them: When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not down in the highest room; lest a more honorable man than thou be bidden of him; and he that had thee and him come and say to thee, Give this man place; and thou begin with shame to take the lowest room."—Luke 14:7-9.

If one takes a modest place, it may be that he will be invited by his host to take a higher one, said Jesus.

It would certainly be a humiliating experience for anyone to choose a seat reserved for another and possibly more distinguished guest.

"For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted."—Luke 14:11.

"Then said He also to him that bade Him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbors; lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee. But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the blind; and thou shalt be blessed; for they can recompense thee; for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just."—Luke 14:12-14.

For the story of the rich man and the poor one, whose name was Lazarus, we must be brief, as our space is limited. The rich man had a fine house, he dined sumptuously and wore expensive clothes. And there was a poor man who was forced to beg for the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table. When both men died, the rich man was in torment, while the poor one was "carried by the angels, into Abraham's Bosom."

The rich man, in his agony, seeing the poor man in bliss, cried to Father Abraham, asking for relief, begging that Lazarus be sent to ease his torment. "But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime received the good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and thou art tormented."—Luke 16:19-25.

The study of this lesson should teach us all that if we live unselfish lives with a desire to help others, if we serve, rather than seek for ourselves, we will be happier and help to bring joy to others.

Goodness Of God Theme Of Lesson

HOW GOD'S goodness and allness establishes the basis for universal harmony will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" which will be read at Christian Science services this Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon will include this verse from the Bible: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is in God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else."—Deut. 4:39.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" of which Mary Baker Eddy is the author, the following will be read: "The Scripture declares, 'The Lord He is God (good); there is none else beside Him.' Even so, harmony is universal, and discord is unreal."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (103:24): "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thine diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction."

All are welcome to attend the services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Stroudsburg, Monroe and Eighth Sts.

Palms Part Of Rites On Sunday

PALMS will be blessed and distributed at all three services Sunday morning in Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg.

Services scheduled are: Holy Eucharist 8 a.m., Family Service and Church School 9:30 a.m., Festival Choral Eucharist 11 a.m. No sermon will be preached at the 11 o'clock Eucharist, as the emphasis is placed on the Blessing of the Palms and the solemn reading of the Gospel of the Passion of our Lord.

Beginning with this Sunday and continuing through Good Friday, the Gospels appointed are the four accounts of the Passion of our Lord, read successively in their canonical order, a custom that goes back to very ancient times.

The reading of the Passions sets the climax upon all the Gospel lessons appointed during Lent, bringing us to the ultimate revelation of God's reconciling love in Christ for our sinners and paving us for that renewal of life offered to all who through faith in Him would die unto sin and arise unto a new life of righteousness.

TWO area men who pleaded guilty to burglary charges were sentenced yesterday by Judge Fred W. Davis in Monroe County Court.

Warren E. Zacharias was given six months to one year in Monroe County Jail, fined $100 and costs and directed to make restitution on one count of burglary.

On a second count, he was fined $100 and costs and ordered to make restitution. The jail term here will begin after he finishes serving a Carbon County sentence.

In non-support cases heard by Judge Davis, Reginald Miller was directed to pay $10 a week support for his daughter and costs within 30 days; William C. Besecker had his support complaint dismissed; William M. Serfass was directed to pay $10 a week for the support of his wife under an agreement of parties; and Robert Burd was ordered to pay $20 a week for his two children.

Gap Council Passes Eight Mills Tax

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A real estate tax of eight mills, one mill higher than last year, was approved by Delaware Water Gap Borough Council.

Councilmen said the increase resulted from a reduction of about $100,000 in assessed valuation due to appeals by industries and private citizens from the recent reassessment program.

It was announced that council will seek $3,550 from Monroe County Commissioners to finish Mountain Road. Edward C. Hess is currently making the final survey for the water reservoir and purchase of several small pieces of land needed as a watershed.

The last week of April—25 to 29, inclusive—has been designated Cleanup Week in the borough. Every day the borough truck will gather garbage and trash for free hauling to the dump, where a bulldozer will be used to keep such stuff plowed under ground. The Council urges citizens to clean up weeds and trash on all properties.

Chamber of Commerce reported to the council that they have heard that a stone quarry is to be built on Blooms Hill which has been denuded of its trees on the northern section. Councilmen assured them that such construction would lead them to enforce an ordinance which they have against dust nuisances.

$5,975 Netted In Mothers Dimes March

THE Mothers March of Dimes, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women of the Stroudsburgs, collected $5,975 this year. Mrs. Ruth Rinehart and Mrs. Betty Clark, co-chairwomen, made the announcement after their final report yesterday.

Glen Sanborn III, the treasurer of the 1960 New March of Dimes reports that the total for Monroe County was over $10,000. The public was praised for their contributions by chairman Peter Wyckoff.

The money will be apportioned between the chapter for assistance to local patients and other services and The National Foundations programs for medical research, training health workers, polio epidemic services, public education, emergency aid for chapters and related programs.

Patient aid will be offered this year to victims of paralytic polio and, as funds become available to children under 19 suffering from rheumatoid arthritis or from certain birth defects of the skull and spine.

The treasurer is still receiving monies for the 1960 fund. If there are any March of Dimes coin collectors still in any place of business, proprietors are urged to contact or bring the canisters to Peter Wyckoff or Small's Insurance.

Reactions Vary To Racetrack

VARIOUS reactions to the economic effect on a community of a harness racing track were voiced to the Citizens Committee to Defeat Harness Racing in Monroe County.

Joseph H. Small, Stroudsburg, reported on a visit of three area residents to Monticello, N. Y., where a nine million dollar racing plant has been in operation for two years.

During the 1959 season, bets totalling more than $19,000,000 were handled by pari-mutuels there.

The Monroe group heard from persons on all levels of commercial activity in the Catskill Mountains village. Although mixed feelings were expressed concerning the dollars and cents value of gambling, businessmen were nearly unanimous in their opinion that the track "cheapened" the town and undermined the character of its citizens, Small said.

Small was accompanied on the trip by Rev. William F. Wunder and Rev. Peter K. Emmons. The group concentrated on economic factors and made no attempt to explore the moral and ethical aspects of gambling.

Fire Whistle Seen Not Best For CD Use

DONALD C. GAGE, president of Acme Hose Company, East Stroudsburg, said last night, "It is not the intention of our fire department to say Monroe County Civil Defense cannot use the fire whistle as a warning signal."

"We (firemen) feel that the whistle is not adequate for three reasons: 1. The whistle does not give the tone required by CD. 2. The people of the borough know the sound means fire. 3. There are many employees who permit their employers, who are firemen, to leave their job in time of fire and they answer the call of the whistle as it means FIRE to them."

A committee from the fire company will meet with other committees from Borough Council and Civil Defense in the near future to discuss the matter.

Gage said, "We will continue to use the fire whistle until CD can replace it with a whistle to be used for CD exercises."

Easter Seal Contributions Go Into Worthy Program

AN explanation of where the public's Easter Seal contributions go and what they do in Monroe County was given yesterday by Perley Webster Jr., chairman of the 1960 Easter Seal appeal.

The once-a-year drive for voluntary public support for the program of the Monroe County Crippled Children and Adults Assn. is reaching its pre-Easter climax. As of April 6, receipts totaled $1,002.71.

76 Percent To Monroe
Of all the money raised, Webster announced, 76 per cent remains in Monroe County to finance the society's program of direct service, care and treatment, available to all crippled regardless of age or type of crippling condition.

One of the most popular of those services is the summer camping program at Camp Daddy Allen where handicapped children can share in the program to the extent of their ability. Each summer four children from this county spend eight weeks there.

Goes To Support
Camp Daddy Allen is one of four camp sites maintained by the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults and much of the 15.7 per cent of the money given to the state goes to their support.

The balance of the money finances necessary field work and assistance to the Monroe County Assn. by professional consultants in program, administration, public relations and recreation, Webster said.

Mutual Funds 'Discount' Nasty Word To Top Brass

By William A. Doyle

THE top brass of most closed-end investment companies usually wince and try to change the subject whenever that dirty word, "discount," pops up. Many of them will never quite get used to the fact that the shares of their companies are available in the market place at less than the asset value each share is backed up by.

To many investors and would-be investors, this is a crazy, mixed-up situation. But it's really simple.

Closed-end investment companies—unlike the open-end mutual funds—do not stand ready to redeem their shares. Therefore, the shares of the closed-enders are traded in the same manner as any other stocks.

Supply Demand

Their market price is set by supply and demand. That price may be equal to asset value. It may be above asset value—at a "premium." Or it may be below asset value—a "discount."

Historically, the shares of most closed-end investment companies trade at a discount. The big reason seems to be that many investors don't care for the idea of owning securities "indirectly" through an investment company.

No matter what the reason, the discounts are certainly not compliments to the management of the investment companies involved. Is it any wonder investment company officials would just as soon not talk about it?

But Edward A. Merkle, outspoken president of Madison Fund, doesn't shy away from the subject. (Despite its name, Madison Fund is a closed-end investment company.)

He bristles a bit but then points out that the discount on the company's shares has narrowed.

Ed Merkle is well-known in the business for his opposition to open-end investment companies. He has made his share of headlines by blasting away at the mutual funds. And he evidently is willing to take pot shots at closed-enders—at least in comparing them to Madison Fund.

"When we compare our record with that of five other closed-end investment companies, we find that the trend has been to larger discounts or, in one case, a lower premium," he points out. "By contrast, our discount of 14.8 percent on Jan. 1, 1959, had narrowed to

Cameron was for seven years secretary of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and served as a lieutenant in the United States Navy during World War II.

93 percent on Feb. 29, 1960.

"If we had followed the trend of the other five companies, the market value of Madison Fund stock would have been $11.3 million less on Feb. 29."

As a reason for the improvement in the discount situation, he states frankly that "we have an excellent record."

Area Methodists Adopt Anti-Betting Resolution

THE Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Canadensis Methodist Church, the ruling body of each church, adopted unanimously a resolution against pari-mutuel horseracing.

The action came after the resolution was adopted at the Philadelphia Area Methodist Men's Convocation at Buck Hill Falls earlier this week.

The resolution reads: "Whereas the issue of legalized harness racing and pari-mutuel betting is to be brought before the electorate of certain counties in Pennsylvania at the primary election on April 26, 1960, and Whereas the laws of the Methodist Church as stated in the Discipline, in Section 202.2, Paragraph 4, declares:

"Gambling is a menace to business integrity, it breeds crime and is destructive of the interest of good government; it is in intimate relationship with vice and governmental corruption; and Whereas, past experience in States where legalized gambling is permitted show that no reduction in taxes is ever accomplished; that it becomes another avenue for the professional gambler; that the sanctity and welfare of the home is often violated; that the menace of corruption of government is ever present and active; and the general moral standards of life are endangered; therefore

Be it resolved, that the Philadelphia Area Methodist Men's Convocation, now in session at Buck Hill Falls, consisting of 546 Church Lay Leaders affiliated with over 1,200 Methodist Churches, reaffirm the historic stand of the Methodist Church to oppose all forms of legalized gambling. And that we urge of our members to vote "NO" if their county is voting, and to voters in all other counties to encourage and help their friends in voting counties with their voices and their prayers."

Other items reported at the conference were an increase in the attendance at worship, a decrease in Church School attendance; and the approval of the Finance Committee to advance ministers salary.

A brief meeting of the Board of Trustees was held following the close of the conference.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE between telling people and selling people!

When you tell them, they know. But when you sell them, they buy! And buying makes the difference in your business profits.

Apply this same thinking to your advertising. A listing in a business directory tells the public that you're in business. A timely, pointed ad in The Daily Record Classified section tells 'em . . . and sells 'em! A Want Ad shows the customers that you have what they want right now . . . and gives them good reasons for buying it right now. When you have something to sell . . . use the advertising medium that knows the difference between telling and selling. Use the Want Ads . . . they make the profitable difference!

THEY CAN BAKE A CHERRY PIE — and also chocolate cake, plan a family menu, set a table, prepare the meal and serve it in style. Representing 25 Girl Scouts from two troops who recently completed requirements for both their hostess and cooking badges are, left to right: Diane Houck, Diane Staples, Linda Boushell and Charleen Ackerman. Looking on proudly is Mrs. Betty Noack who directed the six-weeks course.

Social And Domestic Skills Practiced By Scout Troops

The Girl Scouts of two troops in the county not only know the proper place for a bread and butter plate but how to write a bread-and-butter letter and even how to bake the bread after completing a six weeks' course in preparation for their Hostess and Cooking badges.

Held once a week from 4 to 6:30 p. m., the course was given at the PP&L Service Center, Stroudsburg, under the direction of Mrs. Betty Noack, home economist. In the course the girls learned how to set a table, how to arrange a centerpiece, how to serve, and the etiquette of thank-you notes. In cooking, they learned the importance of the seven basic foods and how to use them in planning a menu for their own families for one day.

They prepared their own small cookbooks using the dishes they had learned to prepare.

Climaxing the course were two teas held this week when they had a chance to show their mothers how to use various modern appliances like the electric mixer, dishwasher and fry-pan and to demonstrate some of their new social and domestic skills.

Each girl received her cooking diploma at the close of the festivities.

Troop 65, with Mrs. William C. Blake as leader, presented a skit as well as their demonstration and had a community song fest. Girls earning their badges were Karen Stabenow, Eleanor Schuler, Paula Sue Vogt, Barbara Shook, Susan Jane Sittig, Jacquelyn Kintner, Madge Magrosky, Aura Mikes, Allyn McElwin, Joan Millard, Sarah Levin, Marcia Dunn, Elizabeth Hinehine, Brenda Bess and Pamela Cyphers.

The second troop under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Berger and Mrs. Margaret Fatzinger, presented a program of entertainment with Mrs. Sally Ferree as mistress of ceremonies. She introduced the troop which greeted the guests with their "hello" song and joined them in a friendship circle. Paul Bartholomew, an honored guest, led the group in an old-fashioned community sing.

Scouts completing the requirements were Janet Heller, Christine Berger, Sally Ferree, Diane Houck, Dorothy Hastings, Kathy Cooke, Patty Miller, Linda Boushell, Charleen Ackerman and Linda Gordon.

Both affairs closed with a buffet featuring sandwiches, cookies, candy and coffee.

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

The high school girls on Main Street last night selling tags might have made more sales without the Greek chorus of boys behind them echoing "Do you wanna donate—" every time they made their pitch—but I doubt if they would have had more fun.

Each age has its compensations. Walking in mud puddles is the peculiar delight of the pre-schooler; being teased by boys of the early high school years. Sort of a comedown to have reached the age where one of my major delights is being able to sleep late in the morning.

However, there are times when I wish I hadn't. Like yesterday morning, when I barely beat the census taker to the kitchen. In addition to the data they collect for the government, bet they are collecting the widest assortment of excuses about "why the house is so upset today ever compiled.

However, on mine all they need to note is "she's lazy" along with the fact that I have a flush toilet for my own exclusive, personal use and hot and cold running water in the house. In fact because of dripping faucets it's running most of the time.

Oh well, my census taker was very nice; and somehow or other it's a comfort to be safely down as a statistical part of the United States of America in the year 1960. To me that is. Although there are people who feel that even such an innocuous questionnaire is sort of an invasion of privacy; and the reduction of each personality to a number in an electronic brain is somehow making the individual just part of the herd.

They may have some justice on their side. I admitted in a supper table argument, but insisted stubbornly that I liked being part of the herd. Maybe because I feel that a woman without a full family around her is never a complete personality.

At any rate, I'd have been worried if they hadn't counted me and my flush toilet. Might have thrown the calculations off by millions and given the electronic brain a nervous breakdown if they had missed me altogether.

WIDE-OPEN — Trailing a 70-foot roster tail, jet powered speed boat performs on Delaware River near Portland. Fiberglass craft will travel at a speed of 45 mph and turn in its own length. Craft cannot be turned over and will ride over logs and sandbars.

Jet Speed Boat Operates In 3-Inches Of Water

By Curt Prins
Daily Record
Sports Editor

A JET powered speed boat, that traveled places where even a minnow can't swim, may open new boating waters in the Poconos.

The 2,300 pound fiberglass speedster has no propeller or rudder, can travel at 45 miles-an-hour through only three inches of water or if need be over sand bars, logs or floating debris.

The unique boat, called the Turbocraft, took the swollen Delaware River near Portland in stride yesterday in a demonstration for newsmen.

Nozzle Steered
Propulsion for the craft is obtained by drawing water through an opening in the bottom of the hull and expelling it, with the aid of a turbine, through a 4-inch nozzle at the rear of the boat. Steering is accomplished by changing the direction of the flow.

At top speed, the water leaves the craft at 70 mph and in a turn can kick up a roster-tail 80-feet long.

The novel propulsion idea was discovered by William Hamilton of New Zealand. Before Hamilton's discovery, experiments were conducted in jet boating by releasing the jet stream under water. The idea was discarded because not enough speed could be obtained.

In Hamilton's set-up, the water jet is expelled directly into the air, with the boat traveling on the stream's recoil.

The turbine, which is prevented from clogging by a steel screen, is driven by a conventional inboard power plant.

Fall Climber
Because of the lack of extremities underneath the craft, it can climb up waterfalls and natural dams. The boat has been tested in the rough Colorado River, where it roared up an 18-foot, 45-degree waterfall.

Four sizes of boats, 16, 17, 18 and 19-feet are being manufactured in this country by the Indiana Gear Works. A subsidiary of the group is making plywood jet boats.

No amount of rapid turning or maneuvering can turn the boat over. The company has offered $1,000 to any of its engineers who can flip the boat. The offer still stands.

An official of the Gear Works, who piloted the boat in the Portland demonstration, said the lack of a keel makes the boat flip-proof. "Water has nothing to get a grip on and the float bottom helps to create a vacuum at high speeds," he explained.

Price-wise the boats run about the same as similar sized inboards.

Short Turner
Under a full head of steam, the boat can make a full turn in its own width.

"It looks like a cowboy stunt when you turn the boat that sharply," the factory representative said, "but the quick turn acts as a brake to bring the boat to an instant stop."

The gearless jet can run through marshy thickets, bulldozing small saplings and brush in its path and through beds of underwater vegetation that would clog propeller-driven boats.

Because of its limited water requirements, the craft will be able to operate in areas where conventional boats would run aground.

Last week the boat negotiated a 23-mile stretch of the Schuylkill River, previously untouched by other boats, including canoes.

Sink-Proof
The jet, which is being handled locally by Brand's Motor Co. of Portland, is almost impossible to sink. Two watertight compartments keep the boat afloat if the hull should be pierced.

In a demonstration ride some months ago, one of the boats struck a submerged piling, knocking a six-inch square hole in the boat's hull.

The craft was quickly flooded, but the skipper was able to get the boat to its dock, seven miles away, under its own power.

Four Tie For Second In Masters

Palmer Fades To 73 But Stays In Front

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.,
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer salvaged first place in the Masters Golf Tournament at the halfway point Friday with a 140 total after a retroactive penalty had cost Dow Finsterwald the lead.

The muscular, 29-year-old Palmer from Ligonier, Pa., lost most of the two-stroke lead he held after the first round, posting scores of 67-73-140 over the massive par 36-36-72 Augusta national course.

Finsterwald, a former PGA champion and Tournament Committee member who should know the rules, called one on himself Friday for an infraction Thursday. He could have been disqualified for it, but the Tournament Committee decided instead to add a two-stroke penalty to his first round score. That gave him 71-70-141 and threw him into a tie with Ben Hogan, Claude Harmon and Walter Burkemo for second place.

Practice Putt
Finsterwald's difficulty arose from a practice putt he took on the fifth green Thursday. A local rule, printed on the back of the scorecard, says this is not allowed and prescribes a two-stroke penalty.

Finsterwald had overlooked this rule and started to take another practice putt Friday. His playing partner, U.S. Open Champion Billy Casper, stopped him and called the rule to his attention. At the end of the round Finsterwald reported the infraction to the Tournament Committee.

After a long discussion and a consultation with U.S. Golf Assn. Secretary Joe Dey, the committee decided that the penalty of disqualification for turning in an incorrect score card should be waived and the two-stroke penalty should be applied to Thursday's score. That changed Dow's Thursday score from 69 to 71.

Rules Change
Masters Tournament Chairman Cliff Roberts said this was because of the unusual circumstances of the incident. A provision of the USGA rules permits this in certain cases.

The circumstances and Palmer's ability to steady himself after a bad first nine overshadowed an old threat in a new guise—Hogan.

The little Texan who has won the Masters twice and finished second three times, fired a second round 68 over the massive 6,850-yard, par 36-36-72 Augusta national course he used to call his own. That gave him a 141 total. Harmon, the portly teaching pro from Mamaroneck, N.Y., who won the 1948 Masters reached the same total with 69-72 and Burkemo, a two-time PGA champion, got there with 72-69.

Moved Ball
For a while it appeared Palmer might also be involved in a situation involving a penalty. He held up signing his card until he could be sure he had the correct score. He said the ball had moved while he was taking a practice swing. The ruling was that since he hadn't touched the ball or caused it to move, there should be no penalty.

The players who were the real threats Friday were 47-year-old Hogan and 30-year-old Finsterwald.

Hogan's iron shots were crisp and his putting appeared as sharp as it was when he was winning the Masters or coming close every year.

Hogan got birdies at the second, sixth and eighth holes to reach the turn in 33. He lost two strokes to par on the 11th and 12th, then got them back with interest with three birdies in a row.

Finsterwald shot and tough back nine in 34 Thursday and he did it again Friday, clipping two strokes off par. He had par on every hole for the first nine but bogeyed the tenth.

Ken Venturi had a 34-35-69 with Casper and Don January. Another stroke back at 142 were British Amateur Champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and pros Julius Boros and Billy Maxwell.

After Friday's play the field was cut to 45 players who had 36-hole totals of 150 or better. The cut usually is to the low-scoring 40 and ties, but under a new provision this year all those within 10 strokes of the leader continue to play the last two rounds.

Among those who didn't make it were three-time winner Jimmy Demaret; and Cary Middlecoff, the winner in 1955 and runner-up to Art Wall last year. Both had 151s. At 152 was Byron Nelson, two-time Masters champ, while Gene Littler, who won five tournaments last year, wound up with 71-82-153.
